corner of Boyd and San Pedro Sta, conducted by Mmes. L. J. Sims and Slaughter, evangelists. The design of the meeting is for the salvation of sinners and the building up of believers in the most holy faith. Souls are being saved; one hundred and forty having professed faith in Christ. Visiting ministers: Rev. W.
Shepard, Rev. Johnson, Rev. Brases (evangelist), Mas Cogill and Rev. J. W. Boyner.
Leaders of song: Rev. J. W. Golmon and J. Coleman. These meetings are made doubly interesting by an occasional plantation melody. Oh, jet Summary Arrest of Irish Agitators.

John Dillon, Editor O'Brien and Several Others Jailed.

The Land League Headquarters Under Close Surveillance, Parnellites Say the Arrests Wer to Prevent the Intended Trip of the Agitators to America.

By Telegraph to The Times. DUBLIN, Sept. 18.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] John Dillon was arrested this morning at his resi-dence near this city and conveyed on special train to Tipperary, accompanied by a large military escort. William O'Brien was arrested at Glengariff and taken to Cork. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Sheedy and Condon, members of the Commons Patrick O'Brien and Rev. David Hum phreys of Tipperary. The charges on which Dillon was arrested are conspiracy and inciting tenants on Smith Barry's estate not to pay rents.

Dispatches from Tipperary report that the organ-izers of the local branch of the league lzers of the local branch of the leagues there are under close police surveil-lance. This leads to the belief that the authorities contemplate further ar-rests. The Irish Nationalists had no suspicion of the impending blow and are at a loss to know what it portends. Mingled surprise and indignation are the predominant feelings. Dispatches from various parts of Ireland indicate hat the Nationalists are everywhere excited at the arrests.

London, Sept. 18.—The one topic in London today is the news from Ireland. The general feeling is one of profound surprise that the government had kept its secret so well. No hint of the intended action had reached the pub-lic. No explanation of the reasons of the government's course were vouch-safed. On all sides doubts are freely expressed as to the political wisdom displayed, but it is too early to pradict the effect on the public of England. The Parnellities, while greatly surprised, were not cast down. Their theory of the arrests at this juncture is that the government decided on them to prevent the departure of Dillon and O'Brien to America, because they feared the effect of the speeches of the DUBLIN, Sept. 18.—O'Brien and wife arrived at Tipperary tonight. They were enthusiastically cheered during their passage through the town. In court the Prosecutor asked that O'Brien be remanded until Thursday in £1000 bail. This was done. The Police Inspector denied, on examination, that the mission to America had anything to do with the arrests. anything to do with the arrests.

Dillon was also received by a large crowd and after giving ball addressed the people from the steps of his house. The warrant mentioned his offenses as occurring between March and September. A constable served a warrant on Sheeps but did not arrest him.

Chicago Must Tender a Better Location Than Any Yet Offered.

A Commissioner General to Supplant the Director-General.

The National Managers of the Big Show Evidently Weary of Chi-cago Methods-Utah's Proposed Display.

By Telegraph to The Times. CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] From today's action of sioners and from a canvass of the commission, it can be stated that the revocably opposed to the double site for the World's Fair, and that on Saturday next a resolution will be offered and adopted requesting the Chicago mission will report to Washington that no adequate site has been offered. There are also indications of a change of sentiment in regard to the director generalship, and from the indications tonight the local directory will select one man as director-general, probably George R. Davis, while it is thought the national commission will elect a man of their own with the title of commissioner-general and place him in charge of all foreign and interstate exhibits in connection with the fair.

This will of course, cartail the powers of the director-general. Today's meeting of the commission was an exciting one. Soon after the body was called to order a resolution was offered by Mercer of Wyoming. which had already been agreed upon n caucus. It sets forth that the act of Congress provided for the tender of "an

Mercer, McDonald of California, Sewall of New Jersey, St. Clair of Virginia, Martindale of Indiana and a others, spoke in favor of the residency and the comments on the action of Chicago so far were scatching.

Finally, the matter was laid over till the Committee on Titles has reported.

A resolution was passed calling upon the local directory for an immediate report as to the extent to which the consent of the authorities having jurisdiction over the lake front and Jackson Park sites has been obtained, the son Park sites has been obtained, the cost of repairing both places, and out of what fund they propose to pay this cost. The Chicago local directors held a meeting tonight until after midnight. The result was the endorsement of George R. Dayis of Chicago for direc-George R. Davis of Chicago for director-general. In answer to an inquiry as to the proposed division of the exhibits, the directory submitted a rough draft showing the art hall and some kindred exhibits on the lake front, and the agricultural, mining and other displays at Jackson Park. The directors estimate that it will cost a million and a half to represent the represed lake from charge. At 10 o'clock in Department One of the Superior Court the case of the People vs. Lockwood was called.

The defendant was promptly on hand, accompanied by his attorney. The People were represented by Deputy District Attorney Jesse Hardesty, assisted by Judge Alexander Campbell.
The charge against the defendant is that of harboring a fugitive from justice in the person of James M. Damron. The first work was to secure a On the regular panel there were twenty-eight jurymen and on a spec-ial venire nine. All entered the box and the examination as to their qualifications was commenced. This pro-cedure proved to be long and tedious. In fact, it lasted during the entire day. Twenty candidates for the jury-

day. Twenty candidates for the jurybox were examined and only six were accepted and finally sworn in.

The questions asked the twenty parties examined were varied and covered a broad field. It was inquired of them if they knew Damron, Lockwood or Chadwick; if at the preliminary examination of these three parties they had heard any of the testimony; if at the trial of Chadwick for forgery they had heard the testimony; if they had read the account published in The Times of the escapades of these several characters; if the fact that Lockwood was a justice of the peace would in any acters; if the fact that Lockwood was a justice of the peace would in any way affect the verdict they might render; if they were clients of any of the attorneys for the People.

Inquiry was made into the politics and religion of the prospective jurymen. It was evidently the desire of the defense to keep as many Methodists off of the jury as possible, as it is understood that at one time Lockwood was a way-up member of the church of was a way-up member of the church of this denomination and the chances were that if a Methodist did get on the jury the fact of his backsliding restimony of the Defense Given to the Jury.

In Department Three of the Sup rior Court Judge Wade yesterday de nied the defendant's motion for a nor suit in the case of George Brymer, who is suing the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for $30,000 damages. Brymer was an employé of the corporation. While under a car in a wrecked train at Long Beach making some repairs a chain broke and the car fell upon him. How Mr. Brymer ever lived to sue the railroad company is a mystery. Any-way he did, as he only sustained injuries not mortal.

When Judge Wade denied the mo-tion for a non suit the defense com-menced the introduction of testimony. What they endeavored to prove was that their foreman was not to blame and that if he was, Brymer's injuries were not serious. The case was finally submitted to the jury and they

is destined to figure in court on numerous and sundry occasions. First the name of Mr. Schurtz is found figuring as plaintiff or defendant in a civil action and then again in almost the next breath he is in the Police Court that have been seen for many years. A party of young men enjoyed a sail to Catalina Monday, returning home and the properties of t meanor case. Yesterday, however, Mr. Schurtz somewhat changed the order of things. He was plaintiff in a damage case brought against Mrs. Willard. The defendant is the proprietress of a barber shop on First street in the Wilson Block. Schurtz claimed that water came down from the barber shop into his saloon, caused by a tub overflowing, and damaged the ceiling of his place. The case was tried by a jury and a verdict was finally given the plaintiff for $174 and costs of the suit. eauor case. Yesterday, however, him. He adjusted the machine, first taking the girl by the hand and leading her a few feet away. The machine again got out of fix, when he was again called on to put it in working order, when there was some more play and Gussie again threw an apple at him, and he then caught her by the hand and made her kneel down and beg his pardon. It was all done in play and in the presence of his sister and her children. Alexander further said that the girl had been raised with him the same as his sister, and he would not think of offering her an insult.

City Justice Walter C. Lockwood was yesterday himself brought to the bar of justice to answer to a criminal charge. At 10 o'clock in Department One of the Superior Court the case of the defense announced that their case was closed, with the exception that they desired the judge to go down in person and examine the premises. The District Attorney stated that the witnesses for the prosecution were prepared to swear that a certain pile of boxes were not now in the position they were not now in the position they were on the day the alleged assault had taken place.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, no conclusion was reached and the court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning, when the case will be resumed.

the State Law-Pond and Del Valle Reception-Republican Clubs Organized.

Yesterday morning the Democratic County Central Committee met, and then there was trouble. There are inety-three members of the committee, and evidently great interest was felt in the possible action the body might take at its meeting, for eighty of the ninety-three members were present at the morning session, and in Republican nomination for County Asthe afternoon fully eighty-five, or nearly the entire contingent, were

The only business transacted was to perfect arrangements for the holding of the primaries to elect delegates to the County Convention, and to fix the lates upon which both events should

But really the great point at issue was whether or not the primaries should be held under the State primary law, commonly known as the Porter law. The fact that the convention remained in session, with closed doors, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., barring the noon intermission, is indicative of the fact that times must have been busy at certain intervals.

The committee met in the rooms of the Democratic Alliance, at the corner of New High and Temple streets. It is needless to add that the sessions were executive, but nevertheless some of the important features of the con-ference leaked out. J. de Barth Shorl presided and Martin Marsh acted as

It seems that quite a number of the members of the committee were in favor of holding the primaries as they were conducted in July. As is well known the result at that time was seriously questioned. One feation of the riously questioned. One faction of the party charged that it was reached by the assistance of "pimps and pariahs" and by more or less repeating. The other faction made a counter charge that an attempt was made to steal the ballot box in the Third Ward.

Anyway the faction that was defeated at the primary last held insisted that the next one be conducted under the conditions of the Porter law, which really has the effect of making a which really has the effect of making a primary a regular election and prescribes the usual punishment for repeating, perjury, etc.

The parties who were opposed to operations being conducted under the Porter law asserted that anybody who set out to could carry a primary. But the opposition howled long and loud for what they claimed was a fair deal. for what they claimed was a fair deal. Finally they got what they wanted, but it is asserted that this action was not reached until Mayor Pond, Senator Del Valle and Stephen M. White advised

It was decided to hold the primaries under the State law on October 4th and to keep the polls open in every precinct between the hours of 3 and 7 p. m. October 7th was the date fixed for holding the County Convention.

The apportionment of delegates will be the same as at the July primaries, one delegate for every fifty votes or major fraction thereof cast for Cleveland in 1888. It was agreed that the test at the polls would be "Will you support the Democratic ticket on November 4, 1890?"

COUNTY RECORDER FRANCIS.

Plain Statement in His Behalf by His Bondsmen. Los Angeles (Cal.,) Sept. 11, 1890. To John W. Francis, County Recorder, Los Angeles County, Cal.—DEAR SIR: The undersigned, your bondsmen, have had under consideration the affairs of your office, for the purpose of ascer taining the truth relative to certain rumors and charges against its management which have obtained publicity.

After a careful inquiry we find nothing criminal in your official conduct, and no shortage in your accounts has een proven. Some irregularities, however, have been developed in the matter of the payment of salaries or compensation i your office, and though these irregu-larities have affected neither your bondsmen nor the county, so far as we know, we deem it advisable that you cease the practice of giving certificates to employés to enable them to secure advances from money-brokers, on accessions. count of salary or compensation, be-fore the arrival of the regular pay-days established by the Board of Supervi-

This practice seems to be susceptible of abuse, and as you are not officially required to favor employes in this way, we feel warranted in advising you to discontinue a doubtful practice, both as to yourself and those under you, which appears to have grown up under previous administrations of the office.

With this statement we renew our expression of confidence in you, and our willingness to remain upon your bond during the remainder of your term of office, or so long as its affairs are conducted with that honesty and integrity for which we have always given you redit ways given you credit. We remain, your, etc., H. G. OTIS, M. HAGAN. M. HAGAN, C. W. MCKELVEY, J. W. DAVIS, E. K. ALEXANDER. GEO. H. BONEBRAKE, T. J. WELDON, HERVEY LINDLEY, C. W. PENDLETON.

PUBLIC WORKS.

A Tour of Inspection by the Board.

SOME PROPOSED IMPROVEMENTS

The Opening and Grading of Fig. ueroa Street Discussed-Sidewalks for Pearl Street-Petitions

Councilman Bonsall, chairman of the Board of Public Works, with Assistant City Engineer Lowndes and Chief Deputy Hutton, of the Street Superintendent's office, yesterday made a tour of the city for the personal inspection of such matters as would come up before the Board of Public Works this morning.

The first place visited was the corner of Broadway and Temple street, where the sidewalk is in a dangerous condition, it being nine inches the grade of the street, which has recently been paved and enclosed by is granite curb, over which about every three people in five stumble as they pass by, and which is a regular deadfall after night. It was stated that Judge Redick, the owner of the property, had stated that he would stand a lawsuit before he would put the sidewalk on grade, and it was decided to ask the City Attorney to take such legal measures, if there were any, to legal measures, if there were any, to have the sidewalk put in proper condition at once, at least before the rainy season sets in.

Hill street between Temple and Courthouse, was next visited. One side of the street has already been graded, and the property-owners now want the other side put on grade. As there is no opposition, this will probably be recommended today.

There have been a couple of protests against the acceptance of the sidewalk

There have been a couple of protests against the acceptance of the sidewalk on Rosas street. The property-owners say that it has not been properly laid, while the Street Superintendent insisted that it was a good job. Col. Morford accompanied Mr. Bonsall to this point, and the entire length of the sidewalk was carefully gone over. It was found to be in good condition and fully up to the average, and the board will recommend that the protests be denied.

fully up to the average, and the board will recommend that the protests be denied.

The property-owners on New High street, from Sonora to Bellevue avenue, want cement sidewalks and curbs. After looking over the ground, the board could see no reason why the request should not be granted, as the street is now being paved with porphyry, and a recommendation to that effect will probably be sent into the Council on Wednesday.

Some time ago an "omnibus" ordinance passed the Council ordering cement sidewalks on all places on Hill street, from Sixth to Pico, where they were not already laid. The work was done, and a numerously signed protest was sent to the Council against the acceptance of the work, on the ground that it was not properly done. Mr. Bonsall, with the sidewalk inspector from the Street Superintendent's office, went over the walk, and found it in good condition. There were a number of small patches, where it was explained hollow places had been filled in, but nothing was found that would justify the rejection of the work, and such report will be submitted.

There is also a petition before the Board of Public Works, asking that cement sidewalks be laid on Pear street, from Sixth to Pico, and this ground was also gone over. There is a great deal of vacant property on the street, but the board is inclined to favor the petition if there is anything like a fair proportion of the people who want it.

While in the vicinity of Pico and Pearl streets, the matter of opening Figueroa street through was discussed at some length. Figueroa street stops abruptly near the corner of Pico, and is closed for two or three blocks, when it opens out again. It is claimed that the street shows on the old Hancook map, and how it became obliterated and appropriated as private property is not well understood. The board will probably instruct the City Engineer and City Attorney to look into the matter further, and if there is any way by which the street can be opened, it will be done.

The grading of Figueroa street was also infor

Som the handsomest residences in the are on this street, and the board is anxious to see it graded and paved, but there is no way but which it can be done unless a majority of the property owners petition for it. The outlook for the coming rainy season is not at all pleasant, as the sidewalks have been cut down, and in case of a heavy rainfall the street will be virtually im-

DIED ON THE STREET.

Sudden Death of a Pomona Rancher From Hemorrhage. Last evening a few minutes after 6 o'clock a man came up Second street from Main, and sat down in front of Roper's saloon, which is about mid-way the block. He was apparently suffering, and as he sat down Max Kaufman, who was sitting in a chair, asked him if he was sick. He nodded his head, when Kaufman asked him nodded his head, murmuring yes, and almost immediately fell to the floor with a stream of blood flowing from his mouth. A large crowd gathered in a few minutes, and the patrol wagon was on hand within less than five minutes from the time he fell, but before it arrived the man was dead. The body was removed to the station, as the officers could not realize that death had come so quickly, and Dr. Wing was summoned. On his arrival an examination was made, which showed that death had resulted from hemorrhage of the lungs. The body was then that death had resulted from hemorrhage of the lungs. The body was then removed to the morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

From papers found in the man's pockets it was learned that his name was George E. Edgerly, and that he was a member in good standing of both the Masons and Odd Fellows, and was also a member of the Encampment. His papers indicated that he was in fellowship with the Masonic lodge at Orange, Mass., and the Encampment at Greenfield, Mass., his receipts showing that his dues were fully paid up to date. Or, would they debar the people from the privilege of look-ing upon these masterplees of art, to whose matchless charm the world has rendered tribute through many gener-

To illustrate our position that custom decides what shall be considered modest and what immodest, we cite a single instance: The lady who, in walking across our public square, becomes cognizant of the fact that the irreverent wind has displaced her draperies but an inch or two, and that unhallowed masculine eyes may perchance have wandered beyond the custom-prescribed limit, rivals the roseate huse of sunset in the vivid blush which mantles her modest countenance. The same lady at the beach dons a dress which barely reaches her knees and appears unblushingly before the assembled masculine hundreds in a displayed wealth of hosiery which may well startle the observer, what is the difference between the city and the beach? Why is a glimpse at nosiery here a crime, a full display there a pleasure? Custom, oh guileless reader, it is custom—only that and nothing more. The display is no more shocking in the one case than in the other, and the feminine creation bow to their goddess.

So we say it is the part of wisdom to

A week may usher in a change in the political tide which will land the Republican candidate high and dry on the beach of a glorious victory, or it may be an ebb that will leave him mired in the quicksand of an Estee defeat.

There is nothing so uncertain as the California voter. Party really has very little bold on a large proportion of him. He is an independent, manly, self-opinionated, self-thinking individual. All the eloquence in the world about the dark days of the Rebellion will not cloud his intellect to whathe believes to be the real issue of the hour. Neither will the startling bugaboo of a war tariff, and staring biggives showing the debt of the farmers, scare him away from the consideration of that which he may consider the only essential points in the debate.

Sacramento's Alleged Agitation Over the Dawn of "Morning." Stockton Mail Stockton Mail Stockton Mail Stockton Mail I Sacramento's social circles have recently been fearfully agitated by the question whether the picture of "Morning," by Ada L. A Trait of the Prince's.

The Prince of Wales, usually exceeding-ly liberal, seems to have been caught in a petty meanness. He has refused to pay the $300 due for his eldest son's tenancy of apartments in St. James' palace. His ex-cuse for this is that the young man was absent in India and that his tenancy was absent in India and that his tenancy was therefore broken temporarily! In other words, the apartments must be reserved for the prince at all times, but paid for only when occupied! The treasury department will not prosecute the claim, but a good deal of indignation has been expressed by John Bull at large since the story leaked out.—Cor. Chicago News.

The new craft is designed on a plan quite similar to that of the ordinary lifeboat, and is built of steel, with ample water tight subdivisions, there being fifteen water tight compartments, making the boat practically unsinkable. The boller and engine are raised so that they are about three feet above the main deck, and the arrangements are for a supply of forced air to keep up the draught. The place for the passengers is in the after portion of the boat, there being room for thirty people.—London Letter.

The manuscript has three columns to the page, and is written in uncial characters, a characteristic of manuscripts written before the year 1000. The Old Testament, as well as the New, is written in Greek, the Old Testament being the Septuagint version. The Light Glow Worms Emit. One of our readers in Wales, to whom the glow worm is not so familiar as it is to our country subscribers nearer home, wants to know something about the food of that curious creature and the light emitted by it. He says: "There is a poem in which it is said—that—glow-worms are as numerous is the stars, but I doubt if one person in a hundred has ever seen one. I have seen only two in my life, and those were found by somebody else. I have kept one in a glass for a week, supplying it with grass and leaves, which hyperses, it does not be and leaves, which, however, it does not appear to touch. It gives a bright light, sufficient to tell the time by, for about two hours every night, being punctual almost to a minute, both in lighting and putting out its lamp."

The glow worm in its larval state lives on snails and slugs, and becomes vegeta-rian only in its perfect state. Its light is an example of animal phosphorescence, upon which of lets years there has been no lack of scientils theory. Its light has been happily named a love light by one of its closest students, whose account of the Italian firefly's flirtations by means of her attractive phosphorescence our correspond-ent would find highly entertaining.—Lon-

How few of us know that the stovepipe hat, which has come to be regarded as "quite foreign, y'know," originated in the United States and was introduced into Europe by that lovely old Arcadian, Benjamin Franklin. The old gentleman came jamin Franklin. The old gentleman came to Paris in the spring of 1790, wearing the simple attire of the Quakers. A distinguishing feature of this was the hat, which has narrowed and heightened into the fashionable "plug" of today. It was low crowned and broad brimmed, and presented so quaint an aspect that the Parisented so quaint an aspect that the Parisented so quaint an aspect that the Parisented so the parise of th rowned and broad brimmed, and presented so quaint an aspect that the Parisian dandies were disposed to make it the buth of their wit. Men generally cross their legs when there is least pressure on their minds. You will never find a man actively engaged in business with his legs crossed. The lower limbs at that time are straighter than at any other, because the mind and body work to gether. A man engaged in auditing accounts will never cross his legs; neither will a man who is writing an article or who is employed in any manner where his brain is actually engaged. When at work, in a sitting posture, the limbs naturally extend to the floor in a perfectly straight line. A man may cross his legs if he is sitting in an office chair discussing some proposition with another, but the instant he becomes really in earnest and perceives something to be gained his limbs uncross quick as a flash, he bends forward toward his neighbor and begins to use his hands. That is a phase that I believe you will always observe.—St. Louis Republic.

With all the immense municipal expenditure of New York city, six thousand scholars had to be turned away, for lack of room, from the public schools, when they opened last week.

Among the public-spirited journals of the State, the San Francisco Bulletin stands out preëminent in its efforts to expose legislative extravagance and secure a more economical administra-tion in future. Referring to a speech of Col. Markham, at the opening Republican meeting in San Francisco, on Saturday last, the Bulletin says:

Saturday iast, the Bulletin says:

No one can read the positive declaration of Col. Markham at the opening Republican meeting on Saturday night in this city, on the subject of tax limitation in State affairs, without being fully satisfied that he meant exactly what he said. Language with the

And I now pledge you, if I am elected Governor, I will approve of no appropriations which shall exceed that amount, except in case of war or some other extraordinary contingency, and I believe that the government ought to be run for less."

The Democrats are fond of claiming that there is no need for their candidate to make any professions of this nature-that Mayor Pond's official career is a guarantee that, if he is elected Governor, the limit of taxation will be rigidly enforced. The Bulletin shows that this is taking too much for granted. In the levy for the current year, which Mayor Pond signed, he distinctly violated the pledges given at the time of his election. The local Democratic platform of 1888 called for a levy not to exceed $1 on the $100 on a valuation of $230,000,000, exclusive of the sum required for the public debt for each of the two years composing the term. In accordance with that pledge the levy for the current year should have been 99½c. But it is $1.03. This levy was signed by Mayor Pond. If Mr. Pond thus violated a pledge in municipal affairs, what is to provide that he will enforce the forty-five cent limit of the Democratic State platform, should he be elected?

THE REVOLUTION IN SWITZER-

The insurgents in the Swiss canton of Ticino are still giving considerable trouble. As recently stated in these columns, the local government of each Swiss canton is even more independent and exclusive than the different State governments are in this country. The direct cause of the present disturbance seems to be a protest of the more lib eral citizens against clerical rule. Half a century ago a section was inserted in the constitution governing the canton of Ticino which provided that if at any time a petition signed by seven thous and citizens should be presented to the government asking for a revision of the constitution, an election for that purpose should at once be ordered. Last month ten thousand Ticinese pre sented such a petition to the President of the canton, but no action was taken The petitioners represented the Liberal party, while the President represented the Conservatives. The consequence of this refusal was a rebellion and the installation of a liberal govern ment.

REPRESENTATIVE WHEELER of Alabama has by request introduced a bill to incorporate the Military Order of America, the purposes of which shall be to "cherish the memory of camp, field and bivouac, of heroic deeds, to strengthen the bonds of reunion, sympathy, valor and patriotism," between the North and South generally, to promote the welfare of American citizens and cement their friendship one for another. The order is also for the promotion of the erection of a suitable memorial building in Washington to the memory of Gen. Grant. In this building to be established a military and naval museum, a hall and other rooms for conventions of military and civic associations, and an inner court for the reception of the remains of distinguished Americans. Provision is made for the erection of this build ing, but no appropriation is made.

THE annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission discloses some interesting facts relating to the rail-roads of the country. The total railway property in the country is represented by stocks and bonds to the enormous amount of $7,766,745,677. Every mile of railroad in the United States netted last year, clear of all expenses, $661, which shows that railroading pays. The most unpleasant feature of the report is that which shows that, during 1889, 1972 railway employés were killed in the United States and 20,028 injured. This is equivalent to one employé out of every 357 killed during the year and one out of thirty-five injured. According to tion. Prices: $2.50 per 100 copies, or this, railroading is almost as dangerous as soldiering in time of war.

THE PROSE of the agricultural States against the dual site for the Chicago World's Fair seems already to have had some effect. A majority of the World's Fair Commission is now stated right Bill at this session of Congress is to be irrevocably opposed to the double site. If Chicago does not moderate its speculative greed, there is danger that the Columbia Exposition may result in a great big fizzle. If Chicago hasn't a site large enough to hold the fair.

THE Southern Pacific estimates that. during the fruit season of 1890-91 not less than 10,000 carloads of fruit fresh dried and canned, will go East from California. This ought to represent something like $10,000,000, and the beauty of it is that this amount will increase largely from year to year.

AMUSEMENTS

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—The first appearance here of Hubert Wilke in the title role of the play Peti, the Vagabond, took place last night. The place is variously described in the bills, as "a charming society play" and "a musical comedy-romance." It appears to be constructed for the purpose of showing Mr. Wilke passing through a process of evolution in three acts, from the Hungarian gypsy, with his picturesque cos-tume, impulsive style and vagabond life, to tume, impulsive style and vagabond life, to the Hungarian soldier, still in picturesque costume, but with his manners more tamed and his English accent a little improved, till finally he culminates in the full-blown glory of a fashionable baritone, clad in the regulation evening dress of civilized society, and with manners and accent refined enough to please the most fastidious. The secondary motive of the piece is to demonstrate how very foolish it is for wealthy Americans to marry their daughters to foreign noblemen for the sake of getting a title is the family; how such an achievement is not only very expensive, but in the end costs more money than it is worth.

worth. Mr. Wilke is a very pleasing actor, his manners are engaging and his freedom and ease were evidence of considerable stage experience. He has no small amount of magnetism and uses his really good baritone voice to excellent advantage. He sang a number of songs, and was most heartily applauded and encored in all of them. The character is evidently not intended to be judged by the ordinary rests of criticism, its eccentriis evidently not intended to be judged by the ordinary tests of criticism, its eccentricities leing often too wildly absurd, as for instance, the actor's first entrance into a reception room filled with ladies and gentlemen; he comes in with a flourish and advancing to the footlights, plunges at once into a song, which he sings with uncovered head while the company respectfully listens. This conduct on the part of a vagabond gypsy would hardly be tolerated in Buda-Pesth. There are a number of such incongruities scattered through the plece, and there is the regulation underplot in which a poet of the stage esthetic type and an aged spinster, also of the conventional order, figure to an extent that raises a cheep laugh.

The leading ladies, Kate Blancke and Rebecca Warren, are not exactly equal to the demands of their rather difficult roles. Miss Blanck, however, deservedly shared the applause with Mr. Wilke for a duet they sang together in the third act. The child phenomenon is again to the fore in this piece; this time it is Dot Clarendon, who does not appear to be over six years in this piece; this time it is Dot Clarendon, who does not appear to be over six years old. The child has one scene with the star which she carries out very prettily. She is better than the average of the child actors, in that she has a very expressive face and her eyes seem to sparkle with an intelligent understanding of what she is about. Her acting was much enjoyed.

William Haworth, who plays the villain of the piece, the bad count who marries the American heiress for her money, was artistic in his interpretation, but as he was a villain without a single redeeming feature he could not, of course, obtain the suffrages of the audience to any extent.

The piece was witnessed by a fairly large audience and is certainly sufficiently attractive, if only on account of the musical portion of it, to draw well for the remaining two nights of this week.

By Telegraph to The Times SANTA ANA, Sept. 18.—[Special.] After many meetings of the Board of City Trustees and petitions for and against in large numbers, the Santa Ana and Westminster Railroad Company has tonight been granted a franchise to run along Second street to the Santa Fé depot. The road contemplated will be tapped by the Santa Ana and Newport standard gauge road now in process of construction and will open up the vast agricultural district of the Westminster, Fairview and Las Bolsas country, besides giving a seaport and trans continental outlet for one of the largest and most productive agricultural and horticultural countries in Southern California. Great feeling has been manifested, property owners along the route of the proposed road within the city limits alleging that the road will be detrimental to residence property. The fight against the road has been very bitter, but the board was unanimous in granting the franchise.

Against this we had in sight on maining in the State for export 523,000 tons. Against this we had in sight on the 13th of September tonnage amounting to 308,000 register tons, capable of carrying, say 508,000 short tons. This shows we have yet to have in the next two months a further tonnage carrying capacity of 312,000 short tons to have sufficient tonnage to allow the exportation this season of the balance of our wheat on hand for shipment. It is probable that considerable wheat will come down from Oregon this season, which, of course, will shorten the tonnage supply on the above figures for our own wheat."

"This shortage," continued the broker, "is going to be a serious thing, and will possibly cause a continuance of depression in the wheat market."

A GOTHAM TRAGEDY.

Suicide of Two Lovers Who Could Not Marry.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 .- [By the Associated Press.] A strange double suicide occurred here at daybreak this morning. At that hour Gustave G. Koch, a well-known crayon artist, as-cended the steps to the Canal street tation of the Fourth-avenue elevated road. He walked to a point in front of the second-story window of No. 140 Canal street, nodded and said: "Yes, I have come, Emilie. Are you ready?"
The answer was not heard, but Koch drew a revolver from his pocket and shot himself in the head, dying in-

As he fell there came what seemed the echo of his shot from the direction of the window toward which he had looked, and in a few minutes a messenger came running, saying a woman had shot herself at 140 Canal street. had shot herself at 140 Canal street. Investigation revealed the fact that Emille Rossi, an actress, aged 19, lay a corpse in a bed in her room with a bullet in her heart. She was attired in a night robe with a bunch of heliotrope pinned to the bosom. It was evident she had bared her bosom for the fatal shot, for the garment was unscorched. There was nothing to show the cause she had bared her bosom for the fatal shot, for the garment was unscorched. There was nothing to show the cause of death except a little red spot over the heart with a hole in the middle, for not a drop of blood flowed from the wound. Death evidently was instantaneous, as in the case of Koch. It was evidently prearranged that they should take themselves out of the world together. The girl had evidently made every preparation for the event. On a chair by the window lay her clothing carefully smoothed out. She had been writing and the table was covered with small sheets of paper filled with her thoughts as she table was covered with small sheets of paper filled with her thoughts as she sat waiting. The hand was neat, effeminate and did not appear to be in the least tremulous. They were lovers.

Mr. Plumb spoke of a conspicuous illustration that had taken place within the last few days of the impolicy of allowing the Treasury Department to obstruct or accelerate the business of the country. For years the Treasury Department has hoarded money, and during all that time the volume of the currency has been constantly decreasing on account of the withdrawal of national bank notes. The Secretary of the Treasury has seen The Secretary of the Treasury has seen the business of the country hampered on account of that lack of money; but he waited until a panic was impending, not a brokers' panic, but a stringency of money that affected the banks of all cities and seriously interfered with the operations of ordinary business, and then the Secretary had given money to the holders of Government bonds under such circumstances to enable them "and not him" to control the money supply of the country during their pleasure. The money which a few days ago had been in the Treasury and which could have been put out at the will of the Secretary was today in the hands of men who owned bonds to the amount of $20,000,000. It was perfectly safe to say that these men having the many would use it to the bendary of the people. Nothing but an overwhelming calamity would forever divorce the Treasury from such malicious interference with the business of the country. the holders of Government bonds un-

Mr. Sherman said that while he had no objection to the resolution, that which had been done, had been done in strict execution of the law. The Secretary of the Treasury had no right to pay for silver bullion in anything but treasury notes. Those treasury notes had been issued in large denomtime to prepare for the execution of the law, and a sufficient amount of treasury notes of small denominations could not be prepared. Those large notes necessarily did not enter into the treasury notes of small denominations could not be prepared. Those large notes necessarily did not enter into the general circulation of the country. He (Mr. Sherman) doubted the policy of paying a year's interest on bonds in advance. House.—There was a scene of excitement on the Republican side of the House this afternoon. The Virginia election case was unfinished business, but the House was engaged in the technical proceeding of trying to approve yesterday's journal. The Democratic members were endeavoring in every way to prevent consideration of the election case and in pursuance of this policy almost all of them left the hall to break the quorum on the question of approving the journal. A call was ordered which brought in a number of Democrats and a yea and nay vote had Democrats and a yea and nay vote had been taken on a motion to dispense with further proceeding under the call, when the Democratic members again

Burrows called the Speaker's attention and asked if the members present could not be obliged to remain.

The Speaker replied that the rules were intended to secure this end. He did not see why they were not observed.

Accordingly the assistant doorkeeper directed all doors leading into the hall to be locked. Hardly had this been done before Representative Kli-gore of Texas presented himself at the door at the Speaker's left hand and sought to go out into the lobby. He found the door locked, and the doorkeeper in charge, Hayes, refused to unlook it. "Unlook that door," de-manded the stalwart Texan. The keeper manded the stalwart Texan. The keeper moved not, whereupon Mr. Kilgore gave a sudden vigorous kick and the frail baize structure flew open and Mr. Kilgore strode out. He was followed in about the same fashion by Representatives Crain of Texas, Cummings of New York, and Coleman of Louisiana, who in turn forced the lock open without opposition from the doorkeeper. It being impossible to retain a quorum the House adjourned.

Washington (D. C.,) Sept. 18.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate.—The resolution offered yesterday by Mr. Plumb to recommit the Bankruptcy Bill went over until tomorrow.

Mr. Plumb offered a resolution directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate whether the rule or policy of his department, which requires the payment in checks for silver bullion over the counter of the subtreasury instead of through the proper clearing-house, does not result in the paying out of notes of larger denominations, instead of those suited for well and the poor the counter of these subtreasury instead of those suited for well and when she returns I expect clearing-house, does not result in the paying out of notes of larger denominations, instead of those suited for well as a craze for pineapples, "Them. No, I don't mean amateurs, but horticulturists who believe this is a good place to make money out of pineapples. Over 200 have already been here to know when the Honolulu plants would probably arrive, and today another was here for twelve plants. Capt. "I am experimenting now. The first nuts I secured from San Francisco had not sprouted, and are not yet up, but last week I got a dozen that had sprouted, and they are making a good start. I shall try 100 of these, as the cocoanut question has already been settled by the experiments at Eisingre. The plants there are now ready been settled by the experiments at Elsinore. The plants there are now about seven feet high and vigorous. I propose to experiment with a lot of cocoanuts and pineapples on the sand dunes, west of South San Diego, between the lagoon and the coast. Blondes Have the Most Hair.

An eminent Germa has undergone the enormous labor of counting the number of hairs in heads of four different colors. In a blonde one he found 140,400; in a brown, 109,440; in a black, 102,962, and in a red one, 88,740. What the red and black heads wanted in number of hairs was made up, however, in the greater bulk of the hairs individually. It is to the fineness and multiplicity of hairs that blonde tresses owe the rich and silk like character of their flow.—New York Ledger.

The principal element in the composition of a tear, as may readily be supposed, is water. The other elements are salt, soda, phosphate of lime, phosphate of soda and mucus, each in small proportions.

A dried tear seen through a microscope of good average power presents a peculiar appearance. The water, after evaporation, leaves behind it the saline ingredients, which amalgamate and form themselves into lengthened cross lines, and look like a number of minute fish bones.

The tears are secreted in what are called the "lachrymal glands," situated over the eyeball and underneath the lid. The contents of these glands are carried along and under the inner surface of the eyelids by means of six or seven very fine channels, and are discharged a little above the cartilage supporting the lid.

The discharge of tears from the achrymal glands is not occasional and accidental, as is commonly supposed, but continuous. It goes on both day and night—though less abundantly at night—through the "conduits," and spreads equally over the surface of the lids.

After serving its purpose the flow is carried away by two little drains, situated in that corner of each eye nearest the nose, into which they run, and called the "lachrymal points."—Brooklyn Standard.

Stork's Painstie Romance.

A strange and pathing romance ended happily at the Old Heley Tuesday. One William Stork, a most respectable laborer, was indicted for trying to murder his sweetheart. He and she had loved each other for seven years. Poverty, however, had kept them from marrying. Out of his carnings of £1 a week Stork had kept the girl, her aged and infirm father and brother and his own mother from the workhouse. She, fearful of being a further burden, left to stay with a brother. The lovers, however, met one day—the man pressing the woman to marry, she, still dreading their boverty, refusing. Wild with despair Stork tried to cut the girl's throat and his own. The judge and the jury both agreed in sentencing him to a mere formal punishment, and the devoted couple met the reward of their long self-denial by getting a gift of £10 from the sheriff's fund to enable them to marry and set up house together.—London Letter.

An Effective Track Clearer. An ingenious way of driving cattle off a track is that just patented by an inhabitant of Seattle, Washington. A nozzle, pointing out in front of the locomotive, is connected with the boiler, and by the opening of a valve, which is under the control of the engineer, a strong jet can be thrown forward by the boiler pressure through the pipe and nozzle. The direction of the nozzle can be changed at will. It can readily be imagined that cattle showing a dis position to monopolize the track will be apt to vacate without needless loss of time on coming into contact with the persua-sive jet of scalding water.—New York Com-

CITY FOR BICYCLISTS.

IN ROCHESTER, N. Y., THEY HAVE THINGS THEIR OWN WAY.

There Are Over 4,000 of These Vehicles in the Place Business Men Are the Chief Riders-About 400 Women and Girls Own Machines

What strikes the stranger in Rochester What strikes the stranger in tractacture most forcibly from the very moment of his arrival there is the large number of bicycles in the streets. His second surprise comes when he notes the varied sorts of people when he notes the varied sorts of people who use the machines. Finally he is astonished to see women of diversified ages and conditions upon wheels—not half a dozen or a score of women, but literally hundreds of them. Occasionally one will neet in a block more men and women on meet in a block more men and women on bicycles than on foot.

Even in the most crowded business streets of that busy city three or four bicycles will pass any given point inside of any quarter hour of the day and not occasion the least comment. A visitor in Rochester, who recently stood in Main street, nearly opposite the city hall—as crowded a spot as any in the city—counted eleven-bicycles inside of twenty-five minutes. And this was between 2 and 8 o'clock in the afternoon, when traffic was at its height.

when traffic was at its height.

The Rochester bloyclist exhibits a degree of confidence and nerve in the middle of a street full of cabs, carts, trucks and horse carts that would paralyze New York wheel-men. He glides along in the middle of the street, turns out of the way of an approach-ing horse car, ducks under the nose of a cab horse and gets in the wake of a carcab horse and gets in the wake of a car-riage till he sees an opening, when he skims around to one side, takes a long chance with a truck which comes rattling down a side street, and so, dodging and turning, spurting and slacking up, break-ing over an open or hiding behind a cart, he wiggles up or down the street and out of sight, beating the pedestrians on the sidewalk and getting much the better of passengers in the street cars.

BUSINESS MEN RIDE. The men on most of the bicycles wear no knickerbockers, flannel shirts or bicycle caps, and sport no badges or colors. Their sober business suits, their sedate air, their preoccupied faces, all show them to be business men on business bent. It is a fact that hundreds of the most prominent busi-ness men of Rochester—mill owners, brok-ers, bankers, lawyers and wholesale dealers in many lines of trade—go to business in the morning regularly upon bicycles, and use their wheels constantly during the A walk through any business street usiness kours shows dozens of wheels in business kours shows dozens of wheels upon the sidewalks resting against the outside walls of offices.

Oftentimes three or four bicycles will be seen outside a single door, and it is not un-common to count a dozen or more wheels awaiting their riders in a single block. Their owners are either the proprietors of the establishments or business men who have called there to do business with the house. They think no more of leaving their wheels outside than they would of hitching their horses to posts in the street. Clerks also use bicycles extensively, and it is said that nearly all the reporters own machines and use them in doing their machines and use them in doing the daily assignments.

In the residence quarters of town, also, it is common to see bicycles standing outside the doors of houses. Girls use them side the doors of houses. Girls use them freely, and when they run in to have a chat with a friend they leave the steel steeds outside. A reputable bleycle dealer in Rochester told the reporter a few days ago that there were at least 4,000 bleycles in daily use in that city, and that a large proportion of them belonged to business men. He also said that there were a good 400 lady tiders in town.

GIRLS RIDE FREQUENTLY.

Some are evidently out on errands, from the businesslike way they steer a straight and rapid course, but most of the girls are riding for pleasure. Now and then you come across a pretty group in the middle of a roadway, several bright faced girls in or a roadway, several oright faced girls in airy bicycling costumes, standing and chat-ting gayly while they lean upon their wheels. The girls seldom if ever venture upon the business streets. They stick to the residence avgues, where roads are fine and smooth and traffic is light. But they do not lack in skill, nevertheless, as is fre quently noted when a girl is seen to glide vehicle, or circle in front of a trotting horse. Rochester Morses, by the way, ap-pear to be thoroughly used to bicycles, and seem to fear them no more than they fear

But the most peculiar feature of the bicycle riding there to a man from an eastern city is to see bicycles upon the sideeastern city is to see dicycles upon the side-walks. Even country places of some size in our neighborhood, as Orange, for in-stance, have laws compelling bicyclists to keep to the roadway. In Rochester there is more bicycle riding upon the sidewalks is more bicycle riding upon the sidewalks than in the roadways. Pedestrians seem to think nothing of having a big wheel come gliding noiselessly up behind them, and whisk past so close that the wind it makes fans their faces. There is no ordinance regulating the speed of bicycles upon the sidewalks, but apparently by common understanding the riders move leisurely. When they want to proed they turn into When they want to speed they turn into Police officials say that very few accidents result from the universal bicycle riding. Nearly all riders use wheels of the management. There are almost no ordinances regulating their use, and every street in the entire city is open to them. In small portions of five of the most crowded strots bicyclists are prohibited from using the sidewalks. Otherwise they have things all sidewalks. Otherwise they have things all their own way.—New York Sun.

Very Uncertain Business.

There does not seem to be any safety for any one nowadays. Within a week we hear of a girl who has been married without knowing it, and of a man who has been divorced and never found that proceedings had been begun until after the decree was granted. The only safety seems to be to take to the woods.—Detroit Free Press.

Congressman Richard Vaux, the picturesque old gentleman who succeeded

He is a great admirer of the late Andrew Jackson, and misses no opportunity to honor his memory. Mr. Vaux lives but a stone's throw from Jackson park, Washington, in which the equestrian statue of the rugged old Democrat stands. Every morning, no matter what the state of the weather is, Mr. Vaux strolls over to the park after breakfast, and, facing the statue of the man whose memory he honors, respectfully removes his hat. He has not neglected his duty of love one day since he has been a resident of Washington.—New York Journal.

THE SUN WORSHIPERS

A Wonderful Stone Readway Built by Them 1,300 Feet Up a Mound. Charles J. Wimple, one of the wealthiest miners in Mexico, is in this city. Uz told the following wonderful story: "You have asked me to give an account of the interesting mountain my friend. of the interesting mountain my friend, Jesse D. Grant, and myself saw during our Jesse D. Grant, and myself saw during our trip through Mexico, en route to this city. Well, that mountain is at once one of the most gigantic exhibitions of man's handilwork and something almost beyond credence were we not already familiar with the work of the Aztecs. Just imagine a valley forty by thirty miles in area, and inits center rising a mound over 1,200 feet in height. Then you can realize the first effect created upon our minds when we came before the hill I am to describe. My foreman was with us and had partly precame before the fill I am to describe. My foreman was with us and had partly pre-pared us for the surprise, but we had treated his story with incredulous remarks, and had by no means suspected he had but given a modest description of the mound.

miles in circumference. Then we started for the summit. The roadway was built of solid rock clear to the pinnacle, and was from thirty to forty feet in width. A wall of solid rock formed a foundation and an inside wall at the same time. The outer edge of the road was unguarded. These stones weigh all the way up to a ton each, and are not cemented. The roadway is as level as a floor and is covered with broken pieces of earthenware water vessels.

"Half way up the mountain is an altar cut in solld rock; in the niche is a bowlder, which must weigh at least six tons. The bowlder is of different stone from that used or the walls. The rocks in the walls are dressed by skilled workmen, but are not polished. We saw no inscriptions; in fact, we had not time to spare in making a searching investigation. We did look for arrowheads or other warlike implements, to satisfy ourselves that the mound had not been need for defensive or offensive numerals. ed for defensive or offensive purposes.

"Nor was there any evidence to prove that the roadway had been built for the purpose of witnessing bull fights and other sports in the valley. I could only conclude the Aztec sun worshipers, expended years of labor on the hill in order that they might have an appropriate place to celebrate their imposing festivals, inasmuch as the roadway was strewn with broken earthenware, and those scions of a bygone and notable race were known to carry at and notable race were known to carry as sunrise large quantities of water in earth-enware jars to an eminence, and there pour out the liquid and smash the vessels. "When we descended we brought with us a number of small sea shells which had petrified, and if you look at these on my table you will see how they have been per-forated by the Indians. We again took a long look at the mountain and saw it was oblong in shape, and that the upward road commenced on the eastern side. I have traveled on both sides of the mountains from British Columbia to Central Amer-ica, and on either side of the Sierra Madras, where the cliff dwellers have left such remarkable mementos of their skill and cus-toms, but I have never witnessed anything so wonderful and magnificent as the mound which I have been telling you about. The valley is about 600 feet above the sea level, and is about seventy miles from the coast. It is situated in Sonora between the cities of Altar and Magdalena, and near the Magdalena river. We called the curiosity Palisade mountain, and it is well named."—San Francisco Call.

Massage by the Barber. Massage by the Barber.

One of the perplexing problems of life to the man who cannot handle a razor upon his own face is the unreasonable and agravating habit which the average barber has of rubbing soap into his victim's chin until the skin is in a state of irritation and the bone aches with the pressure of muscular flugers. The barber says that the process renders the hair soft, but at this point science takes issue with him, and says that the skin alone is affected. The victim groans, changes barbers in vain, and finally settles down to the conviction that he must endure this barbarous massage or let his beard grow. The proseems to be a mere tradition, a sort of trade fetish, and no amount of persuasion will induce the operator to exchange his harsh fingers for the more gentle brush, unless the victims form an association for the protection of the chin or the amelioration of its sufferings.—New York Sun. Where Hair Comes From. The hair crop annually required to feed the hungry maw of fashion is almost en-tirely collected in France, Belgium and Germany. A Modern Nero.

Two members of a class that recently graduated from a Maine college possessed a pipe with an immense bowl and long stem. A whiff at their pipe was a popular recreation among members of the class, and almost every evening the boys would congregate in the room occupied by the proprietors of the pipe. A coterie of boon comrades was thus speedily formed, and several aspirants for the ministry were included. It was but a step from smoking the big pipe to card playing and bibbing. The big pipe that was the prime cause of all this backsliding was dubbed "Nero" because "it had killed so many Christians."—Lewiston Journal. -Lewiston Journal.

A Legend of Vassar.

"The old legend at our college," says a Vassar girl, "is that in former times the words 'Vassar Female college' were done in stone on the front of the building. One night, so runs the tale, there came a great storm, and the 'f' and 'e' were taken off, leaving it 'male.' This the elements knew leaving it 'maie.' This the elements knew to be incorrect, so a second storm obligingly teok off the 'm.' The 'Vassar Ale college' was, however, too suggestive of the manner in which the founder had made his money, so the trustees had 'ale' chipped, and today it reads simply 'Vassar college.' Famished in the Sahara.

That part of the sandy and sultry Sahara near Biskra has been the scene of a tragedy which was caused by a want of water. Some time ago a young soldier named Frossard was sent from a topographical station in Algeria to Biskra for victuals. He was accompanied by a mounted spahi and had two mules. Actor Dixey's Diamonds.

Dixey has about $40,000 worth of diamonds. There are diamonds and jewels presented by crowned heads, by admiring audiences, by friends, by strangers. In addition he gets bushels of "friendship rings" through the mails, by express and by messengers. At the 500th performance of "Adonis" in New York a souvenir was presented by his admirers, consisting of an immense diamond with "satellites" and surrounded with forty smaller diamonds. Baron Rothschild gave him an exquisite cat's eye surrounded with diamonds were given by the Prince of Wales. Wealthy Rofal Bell Boys.

The man who thinks that the meek and lowly bell boys who frequent uptown hotels are as poor as their station in life would indicate is much mistaken. A CORONER'S INQUEST.

The Death of Mrs. Manlove Investigated.

BELIEF IN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

The Deceased Was Without the nesses Firm in the Faith-Notes and Comments.

Coroner Weldon of Los Angeles yes terday afternoon held an inquest over the bedy of Mrs. E. E. Manlove, who died Wednesday at her home on North Marengo avenue.

Mrs. Manlove's death resulted from a cancerous trouble which originated in an abscess which formed back of her left ear. Some three months ago she went to Dr. Van Slyck for medical advice, He suggested an operation as the proper mode of treatment. Mrs. Manlove, however, refused to concur in this view, and since that time, it is said, she was without medical attention, placing her hope of recovery in matural causes, according to the doctrines taught by Christian Science.

Mrs. Manlove's death occurred Wednesday morning. As no physician had attended her it was impossible for any one to sign a death certificate, and hence the Health Officer could not is-briefly told of.

Mrs. Keese, a neighbor, said she had been with Mrs. Manlove a great deal during her sickness. She had never advised her to have a physician, as all the ills she had ever suffered herself had been cured without medicine or medical advice. She said it was an avowed principle of the fath never to advise anyone to have or not to have a physician. She believed Mrs. Manlove thoughtshe was going to die. prohibition question is not very clearly defined. At last spring's city election the anti-prohibition councilmanic ticket was elected. No one supposed the new Board of Trustees would turn Pasadena into a saloon town; no one wanted them to, nor has such an event happened. Ordinance 125, passed by the former council, which strictly forbids the sale of liquor within the city limits, except under certain specified and restricted conditions, was not altered by the present trustees, only it has been interpreted more liberally and has not been construed to prohibit the serving of wines and liquor at meals at the hotels and restaurants. Unfortunately for the serenity which brooded over this state of affairs, two men got drunk last week and were arrested. It soon tame out that they had filled up on whisky purchased by the drink at two of our restaurants. The liquor ordinance was so plannly violated that the proprietors of the said places were arrested and both found guilty. It will now be a nice question to decide what to do with the other restaurant and hotel keepers, who could without difficulty be found guilty of similar offenses. As long as ordinance 125 remains a part of the city code its conitions should be carried out. If Pasadena does not wish to pose as of yore as a strictly prohibition town, then ordinance 125 should be revoked and one substituted in its stead whose conditions are more in keeping with things as they are. A law that is pub-licly ignored is worse than no law at

The writer only yesterday passed through a small home place where a family of eleven live in comfort, raising all their own produce and at the same time sold $1500 in fruits; and this is a moderate example. There are splendid opportunities for young and middle-aged men to lay the foundations for success before five years have passed. They are right before you if you are willing to begin in a humble way. Place both feet upon the lowest round of the ladder, then you are ready for the next step; buy one acre if you are able to buy no more, work vigorously and add to it. If you cannot pay, there are plenty of land-holders glad enough to sell land on most reasonable terms and on long time if you will improve it. If you are not willing to do this you can wave a parting hand to Dame Fortune; she will not call at your door again.

A young man in Fresno county started in this way; his house was an old carpet swung over the limb of an old carpet swung over the limb of an oak. Two years ago his crops netted $3500, this year over $7000. Such is the result of energetic work. It is the early struggle that toughens the mental and moral sinews as nothing else can, and prepares for that final tri-umph, sure to come to those who put energy into their toil and strain the muscles of their own right arms.

First. The atrike was not on account of wages, hours of labor, lack of prompt payment, or any personal grievance.

The proprietors of the four daily papers had had under consideration the question of retrenchment in their several establishments, and agreed unanimously in laying before the Typographical Union, for considerjournal could attempt to mislead an intelligent public in the misles of the great fruit consuming centers of the East, by statements so utterly at variance with truth is more than I can understand. It may be a mad jealousy that will not acknowledge truth anywhere when conflicting with self-interest.

California peaches are plenty and very handsome and have proved equal to the heavy draft made upon them in consequence of the failure of the crop here. California Bartlett pears are not to be surpassed. They are worth 75 cents and $1 per dozen, while domestic Bartletts sell for 10 and 20 cents per quart."

California has acquired a reputation the past year, and now presents opportunities for us to improve. We can, at the same time, learn an important lesson from the past. Our time, money and energies have all been devoted in bringing the stranger within our gates with soil unsurpassed, is largely unproductive, and will remain so until thrown into acreage and men will cultivate and improve.

Now is the time for effort. The freight problem is being worked out in our favor with great rapidity. When I handled the California fruits, rates were double what they now are and the time in transportation has been reduced one-half.

We are getting in NEW GOODS and to make room for them we are forced to close out some Odds and Ends which we have

PEOPLE'S STORE,
Friday, Sept. 19, 1890.
In days gone by the prices that merchants received for their goods were enormous, but since then there has been a radical change, and at the present time the public is as good a judge, and is as well versed in the values and qualities of the different articles of merchandise as is the merchant, hence the popularity of the People's Store.

Ever since we started, our sole aim and object has been to place goods before you which you know cannot be equaled anywhere in price and quality. Today being Friday it is our Remnant Day. You will find below alist of the few which we offer you, but you will find our counters full of Nominal
